Investment Objective & Principal Investment Strategy

The Ubiquitous Strategy Portfolio is a unit investment trust (UIT) that seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing in a portfolio of stocks of companies that derive a substantial portion of their revenue worldwide and who Pence Capital Management, LLC (the "Portfolio Consultant") believe are involved in aspects of the transformation of consumer behavior and a shift in how people transact purchases.

The portfolio of stocks was selected by analyzing factors including: expected market dominance over the next three to five years, relative size within industry sectors based on market capitalization, steadiness of past earnings growth rates and revenue growth, strength of earnings and revenue projections, balance sheet strength, valuation and levels of cash holdings.

Key Points To Consider

- Innovations in electronics and information technology have made shopping easier using smart phones and tablets.
- Consumers no longer need to shop at brick and mortar stores; they can access products, read reviews and make purchasing decisions using the Internet.
- Consumers can fulfill desires spontaneously without going to brick and mortar stores. In fact, many brick and mortar stores are focused on investing significantly in e-commerce to stay competitive.
- Consumers are able to purchase products online, pay by credit card and have products delivered to their doorstep wirelessly.

Security Selection

- In selecting the securities for the portfolio, the increasing consumer demand and a shift in how people transact purchases was considered.
- Companies chosen for the portfolio represent among the largest in their sectors based on market capitalization, steady past earnings growth rates and/or revenue growth, strong revenue projections and balance sheet strength, favorable valuation, and significant cash.
- The portfolio derives a substantial portion of its revenue worldwide, including other major developed countries and fast-growing, emerging markets.
- The criteria for companies to be selected for the portfolio included expected market dominance of each company over the next three to five years or considered essential players in the same investment space.

Unit Investment Trusts (UITs) are sold only by prospectus. You should consider the trust's investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses carefully before investing. Contact your financial professional or visit Advisors Asset Management online at www.aamlive.com/uit to obtain a prospectus, which contains this and other information about the trust. Read it carefully before you invest.

Risks and Considerations: Unit values will fluctuate with the portfolio of underlying securities and may be worth more or less than the original purchase price at the time of redemption. There is no guarantee that the objective of the portfolio will be achieved. Additionally, the trust may terminate earlier than the specific termination date as stated in the prospectus. Consult your tax advisor for possible tax consequences associated with this investment. An investment in this unmanaged unit investment trust should be made with an understanding of the risks associated therewith that includes, but is not limited to:

Common Stock: An investment in common stocks should be made with an understanding of the various risks of owning common stock, such as an economic recession and the possible deterioration of either the financial condition of the issuers of the equity securities or the general condition of the stock market.

Dividend Payment Risk: An issuer of a security may be unwilling or unable to pay income on a security. Common stocks do not assure dividend payments and are paid only when declared by an issuer's board of directors. The amount of any dividend may vary over time.

Foreign Securities: Securities of foreign issuers held by the trust present risks beyond those of U.S. issuers. These risks may include market and political factors related to the issuer's foreign market, international trade conditions, less regulation, smaller or less liquid markets, increased volatility, differing accounting practices and changes in the value of foreign currencies.

Information Technology Concentration: The trust is concentrated in stocks of companies in the information technology sector that are generally subject to the risks of rapidly changing technologies. Technology companies may be smaller and less experienced companies with stocks that have periodically experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations that are often unrelated to their operating performance.

Long-Term Strategy: Although this unit investment trust terminates in approximately two years, the strategy is long-term. Investors should consider their ability to pursue investing in successive portfolios, if available.

The Morningstar Equity Style Box™: This table provides a graphical representation of the investment style of a trust based on holdings as of the date of deposit which may vary thereafter. The Morningstar Equity Style Box™ placement is based on the Morningstar market capitalization classification (determined relative to other stocks in the same geographic area) of the stocks in the trust's portfolio (vertical axis), and by comparing the growth and value characteristics of the stocks in the trust's portfolio with growth and value factors developed by Morningstar (horizontal axis). Value, blend and growth are types of investment styles. Growth investing generally seeks stocks that offer the potential for greater-than-average earnings growth, and may entail greater risk than value or blend investing. Value investing generally seeks stocks that may be sound investments but are temporarily out of favor in the marketplace, and may entail less risk than growth investing. A blended investment combines the two styles. ©2021 Morningstar, Inc. All Rights Reserved. For Use Only with Eligible Fee-Based Account Investors: During the trust's initial offering period, investors who purchase units through registered investment advisers, certified financial planners or registered broker-dealers who in each case either charge investor accounts periodic fees for brokerage services, financial planning, investment advisory or asset management services, or provide such services in connection with an investment account for which a comprehensive "wrap fee" charge is imposed may be eligible to purchase units of the trust in fee-based accounts that are not subject to the transactional sales fee but will be subject to the creation and development fee that is collected by the sponsor (i.e. the "Fee-Based Account" sales charge). You should consult your financial advisor to determine whether you can benefit from these accounts and whether your unit purchases are eligible for this discount. To purchase units in these accounts, your financial advisor must purchase units designated with one of the Fee Account CUSIP numbers, if available. The amounts shown are different from what would be applicable for units purchased in other accounts (i.e. commission-based accounts) not eligible for this discount. See your prospectus and consult your financial advisor for more information about eligibility and applicability of the fee-based account discount. This communication may only be used with investors that are eligible for this discount.
